

By far the most important character design wise as this is our main character many interpretations depict a slender women wtih brown hair wearing a flowing gown, nevermoore webtoon depicts them as a high fem sort of royalty, with many ornate outfits and hair styles

def a dyke

Im imagining for hair she will have a back of head length length wavy style, specifically looking unkempt similar to this:

with a length more similar to this:

with some white highlights potentially

As for her clothing, they muse be of the time, but functional for combat, so a long flowy dress may work for Ligeia but not her for the top i was thinking something like this:

and bottoms like this

The Bottoms allow for ease of movement and the top has quite high shoulder pads in order to emulate the look associated with men, and thus gain some of the power they have. All of this while maintaining a tight fitting waist to preserve the ingrained idea of what "femininity" is in the 1800s. As for accessories, I am thinking a handbag to hold eyeballs with white gloves peaking out (gloves are off literally)

, a few silver necklaces adorned around her neck with a choker like this in order to show her entrapment to The Raven and The Man, one of these of her pointer and middle fingers to represent her ability to fight back, and potentially what that resembles a crow's beak

For a show I'm thinking a low heel (a heel nonetheless) like this

