

A woman of divine beauty, offering her services and wisdom to the main character, from the story of the same name

She is the perfect person, but that didn't stop The Raven and The Man from eventually, hating her, resenting her, (potentially abusing her?), and eventually killing her. This helps the audience understand there is no person who could please this insatiable man

Will help kill The Raven and The Man in the end

Spits some lore and give some buff, angelic, im picturing corpse bride, tall fair,

Tall slender figure with graceful movements. raven black hair, exceptionally large eyes, curved soft lips with black lipstick and dimples. High cheek bones, wavy dark hair.

For clothes they have flowey sleeves and a collared dress which is symbolic of thier ties to The Raven and The Man

Im imagining they keep their hands together when standing, like this :

